

In August 2006 a pilgrimage to the old battlefields of the North West Europe culminated in the unveiling of a new Regimental memorial on the esplanade at Dieppe; memories were rekindled, acquaintances renewed and lasting friendships forged. The Regiment and the wider public of Windsor and beyond have continued to remember, most notably when a second memorial was placed in Dieppe Gardens in 2010.

Now, to coincide with the 70th anniversary of that fateful day a tour is planned to take in the achievements and sacrifices of the Regiment, from Dieppe, through Vimy Ridge and beyond to Belgium, Holland and Germany including the battles of the Scheldt, Groningen, Arnhem, Hochwald and Xantern.

The tour will be arranged by Battle Honours Ltd, and guided by Kirk Drew & Clive Harris, both members of the Guild of Battlefield Guides. Kirk served extensively with the Regiment before his retirement; Clive is a published author and a member of the British Commission for Military History. Between them and their support team they will ensure this tour is a fitting tribute to those who served overseas between 1941-1945.
